

The cords on the N computing stations are already color-coded. Grey is the mouse, thin black is the keyboard, thick black is power, blue is Ethernet. they are bundled with locking plastic wraps.

This is a constant problem because kids move around but I cinch up the cord and don't let kids walk out that door so it cuts down on traffic.

LWC. Jurupa Valley